The Great One voted Greatest NHL Player of All Time

The votes are in — and Canadians have spoken: forward Wayne “The Great One” Gretzky is the greatest NHL star in history.

Gretzky was the top vote-getter in an online poll conducted by Canada’s History Magazine to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the NHL. The poll ran in conjunction with a special December-January issue of Canada’s History that featured top sportswriters recalling the best NHL games they ever covered.

The winners of the poll at each position were:

Top Forward

Wayne Gretzky — a four-time Stanley Cup champion — holds or shares 61 NHL records, including most career goals, assists and total points.

Top Defenseman

Bobby Orr — a two-time Stanley Cup champion — transformed his position with his offensive prowess. Sadly, his career was cut short in 1978 due to chronic knee injuries.

Top Goalie

Patrick Roy — a four time Stanley Cup champion — won two cups with the Montreal Canadiens and two with the Colorado Avalanche.

Check out CanadasHistory.ca/NHL@100 for the full poll results, and to rest of the players who were selected to the all-time NHL dream team. Meanwhile, all who voted were entered into a random draw for a hand-made replica of Jacques Plante’s 1974 goalie mask. The winner was Peter Cobill, of Richmond, Ontario.
