MAX STERN'S FUNERAL, 1987

WE KNOW SO LITTLE OF MAX'S LIFE BEFORE HE CAME TO THIS COUNTRY, BUT WHAT A DIFFERENCE HE MADE. CANADIANS HAVE DISCOVERED ARTISTS SUCH AS PAUL-ÉMILE BORDUAS, HENRY MOORE AND EMILY CARR BECAUSE OF MAX STERN.

MAX STERN'S FRIENDS
EVENTUALLY LEARNED THAT THE
MAN WHO HELPED CANADIANS
APPRECIATE THEIR OWN
ARTISTS HAD ANOTHER WHOLE STORY FROM BEFORE THE
WAR — THE DISAPPEARANCE
OF MORE THAN 400 ARTWORKS
THAT BELONGED TO HIM
PERSONALLY OR TO THE GALLERY.

EITHER THE NAZIS FORCED HIM TO AUCTION THE ART OFF FOR A TINY FRACTION OF WHAT IT WAS WORTH, OR THEY SIMPLY TOOK WHAT THEY WANTED. AFTERWARD, THEY FROZE HIS BANK ACCOUNTS SO HE DIDN'T RECEIVE A PENNY FROM THE FORCED SALE. STERN SPENT DECADES AFTER THE WAR SEARCHING EUROPE FOR THE MISSING ART, BUT LOCATED JUST A FEW PIECES.

IN 2002, CONCORDIA UNIVERSITY LAUNCHED THE MAX STERN ART RESTITUTION PROJECT. FOUR YEARS LATER, THE FIRST ITEM FROM STERN'S COLLECTION WAS RETURNED: AIMEE, A YOUNG EGYPTIAN BY EMILE LECOMTE-VERNET. TO THIS DAY, THE RESTITUTION PROJECT CONTINUES TO WORK TO PROVE WHICH PIECES MAX STERN LOST TO THE EVIL OF HIS DAY, AND TO HAVE THEM RETURNED IN HIS NAME. WE HAVE IMAGINED THESE SCENES AND CONVERSATIONS, BUT MAX STERN'S STORY IS TRUE, AND A TRULY AMAZING PART OF CANADA'S ART HISTORY.

A BIG THANK-YOU TO SARA ANGEL. THIS COMIC IS BASED ON HER RESEARCH ABOUT MAX STERN.
